

Gwen Heeney

World Association of Brick Artists

Gwen Heeney MA RCA is an elected member of the IAC (International Academy of Ceramics). She is a Public Artist specialising in brick as a creative medium and has worked for many years in collaboration with the Brick Industry worldwide.

She has Public Artworks throughout the UK and in international collections in Korea, China, USA, Turkey, Hungary and Costa Rica.

Gwen Heeney is a part time Senior Lecturer at the University of Wolverhampton, School of Art and Design, Applied Arts Department where she specializes in architectural ceramics.

Gwen Heeney is presently researching for a PhD at the University of Newcastle between the Fine Art and Landscape Architecture Departments.

In August 2011 Gwen Heeney was instrumental in setting up WABA, The World Association of Brick Artists with Jacques Kaufmann, Ulla Viotti, Robert Harrison and Fritz Vehring.

